Dear Dr. Bond:

Thank you very much for your hospitality on Tuesday, July 26, 2016. I appreciate the interest and time of you and your staff. As discussed at the conclusion of the practice review, no recommendations have been made and therefore no response is required.

You are commended for developing and consistently adhering to practices and processes that not only decrease your risk for a medical malpractice claim but more importantly, improve the quality of patient care. The majority of medical malpractice suits can and should be avoided. It does not require evolutionary changes or that you elevate yourself to a higher standard of care. You represent a conscientious practitioner who maintains a standard of care to which physicians have always been held accountable. I'm certain your patients appreciate the quality care they receive.

Texas Medical Liability Trust offers policyholders a 5% risk management discount for the practice review and an additional EMR best practices discount. Both discounts will continue through the expiration of the current policy period plus the next two (2) policy periods.

Your commitment to consistent measures for prudent risk management is appreciated as the challenges are so great in today's healthcare environment.

Sincerely,

Karen Werth
